BALL PREDICTS UNION CURBS

Declares Senate Will Restore
"Teeth" to Bill Now Up for Debate.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 25—Senator Ball (R-Minn.), predicted today that the senate will write more restrictions on unions into its general labor bill—and Senator Aiken (R-Vt.), said that would "assure" a Presidential veto.

Ball and Aiken, both members of the senate labor committee, expressed their views in separate interviews as the senate got set to resume debate, on legislation to curb strikes and limit union activities.

Ball claimed that at least 50 amendments which would add fresh checks on labor organizations to the senate measure. That is two votes more than needed to assure adoption.

These amendments, sponsored by Ball and other senators, would:

Authorize private employers to petition for court injunctions to block jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts.

(Jurisdictional strikes usually stem from disputes between unions as to which should do given work. A secondary boycott is an effort by a union to hit an employer by forcing other employers to stop dealing with him.)

Outlaw union-administered health and welfare funds.

Forbid national unions to coerce their locals into accepting contract terms.

Make it an unfair labor practice, subject to injunction, for unions to coerce or interfere with workers in the exercise of their collective bargaining rights.

The Hartley bill approved by a three to one majority in the house last week has all of these provisions and many other union curbs which are not in the senate measure.

But both bills would outlaw the closed shop, which permits the boss to hire only union members; authorize court injunctions to halt or stave off "national paralysis" strikes; free employers of any obligation to bargain collectively with foremen; set up a new federal mediation service; and permit suits against unions for breach of contract.

Railroader Young, Sen. Taft Attack Truman Price Policies

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 25—Price policies of President Truman were attacked last night by Robert R. Young, chairman of the board of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, and Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio).

Both spoke at a dinner sponsored by the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers association, including the annual ANPA convention. Election of Richard W. Slocum, general manager of the Philadelphia Bulletin, as chairman of the bureau's governing board, was announced at the dinner.

Slocum succeeds Roy D. Moore, president of the Brush-Moore newspapers in Ohio, as board chairman of the bureau. Irwin Maier, publisher of the Milwaukee Journal, succeeded Slocum as vice chairman.

"Labor Monopolies"
Young, who has been extending his influence in rail circles rapidly, told the newspaper men that there were "nationwide monopolies in labor, agriculture and industry, imposed or encouraged by a coalition in government, but the seat of all monopoly in America is in the railroads."

"In the increasingly frequent trades of the President against prices, his political Frankenstein, does he ever suggest economy in government or an end to farm coddling?" Young asked.

"No, he again bludgeons private enterprise at its very nerve center, the profit margin, just as he struck it there below the belt immediately after V-E day by egging on monopolists in labor."

"You and I know tens of thousands of businesses which are not making excessive profits which are frightened by the President into abandoning their plans for expansion—thus putting still more pressure on prices."

Announces Expansion Plan
For his own lines, C. and O. Pere Marquette and Nickel Plate, Young announced a $100,000,000 program of capital expansion, including its recently announced $26,000,000 order for new passenger cars.

Senator Taft was interviewed before the newspapermen by N. R. Howard, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and editor of the Cleveland News.

As to the President's recent appeal for price cuts, Taft said that:

"The government began its new attempt to force a break in deadlocked wage negotiations as the strikers' defense fund swelled with gifts from labor union allies, and the companies reported mounting instances of cable-slashing and tampering."

Today's separate conferences—arranged under federal pressure—were between union representatives and officials of the long lines division of American Telephone and Telegraph Company at one session and the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, largest of the more than 20 Bell subsidiaries at the other.

Both groups had tried it before.

SCIO TO PLANT LABOR PROBLEMS SETTLED

A labor problem at the Scioto plant of the Ohio Public Service Co. involving union bargaining rights was settled today by an announcement from T. G. Ellinwood, acting president of AFL 878, Operating Engineers (AFL), that a contract between the company and the union had been approved.

Forty-one employees of the plant, former members of Local 333, (CIO), have joined the new AFL union, Mr. Ellinwood said, and a contract providing for pay increases has been signed.

The new contract, according to Mr. Ellinwood, provides for average pay increases of 27 cents an hour for all employees after March 23. The contract also gives employees a 10 cents an hour back pay increase from March 1, 1946 to Dec. 29, with a 15 cents an hour increase during the same period.

BAR WALLACE AT HOLLYWOOD

Bowl Association Rules Former Vice President Can't Speak There.

By The Associated Press
HOLLYWOOD, April 25—Speaking engagement in May for former Vice President Henry A. Wallace was tossed right out of the Hollywood Bowl today.

Directors of the Bowl association, operating the county-owned 20,000-seat amphitheater as a nonprofit organization with a 99-year lease, disclosed they had turned down a request by the Progressive Citizens of America for use of the Bowl for that purpose.

President C. E. Toberman of the Bowl association said "the directors decided the Bowl should not be used as a springboard for ideologies foreign to the majority thought at this time."

Wallace's recent speeches in Europe stirred up a controversy at home and a Bowl association statement said that "the reaction of a large portion of public opinion to the recent speeches of Henry A. Wallace indicates that his appearance in the Bowl would undoubtedly produce discussion of a highly controversial nature."

Palestine Resistance Necessary, Says Wallace

By The Associated Press
PARIS, April 25—Henry A. Wallace declared today that a Jewish resistance movement in Palestine had been necessary to "arouse the conscience of the world."

"Pressing faith that Britain would solve the Holy Land problem and hope that it would 'carry out the original Balfour declaration,' the former American vice president told a news conference that 'there can never be peace in the world until justice has been done the Jewish people.'"

"I sympathize with the British and I deplore terrorism," Wallace said. "I have never believed in force of arms or force of money. But we do have to recognize facts."

"I think it has been necessary for the Jews to conduct what amounts to a resistance movement of their own to arouse the conscience of the world."

"I hope that the acts of terrorism will now cease and that the British people will carry out the original Balfour declaration."

The Balfour declaration of Nov. 2, 1917, put the British government on record as favoring the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people.

Wallace, rushing through a last busy day before flying tonight to the United States, where he will make a speaking tour next month, dashed from the news conference to a luncheon engagement with Leon Blum, former premier, and a group of Blum's Socialist party members.

JOIN TELEPHONE STRIKE
By The Associated Press
PHILADELPHIA, April 25—The 6,000 maintenance and repair workers of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania today joined the nationwide strike. Exactly what effect the walkout would have on communications in the Keystone state could not be determined immediately.

TRUMAN DISCUSSES TELEPHONE STRIKE

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 24—President Truman and his cabinet discussed the nationwide telephone strike today.

There was no indication, however, of prospective government action other than federal conciliatory moves for new union-management negotiations in the 18-day-old tie-up.

Cabinet members told reporters that the strike "came up" during their 35-minute session with the President.

Secretary of Interior Krug said the "only new thing is that they are starting all over again."

He referred to the union-management meetings arranged here by federal conciliators seeking to end the strike.

The government began its new attempt to force a break in deadlocked wage negotiations as the strikers' defense fund swelled with gifts from labor union allies, and the companies reported mounting instances of cable-slashing and tampering.

Today's separate conferences—arranged under federal pressure—were between union representatives and officials of the long lines division of American Telephone and Telegraph Company at one session and the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, largest of the more than 20 Bell subsidiaries at the other.

Marshall To Report Parley

Legislators Call for First Hand
Details on Russ-U.S.
Relations.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 25—Legislators called today for a first hand report on American-Russian relations from Gen. George C. Marshall.

Their call came as the secretary of state headed home from the Moscow foreign ministers conference to tackle a crowded schedule that may involve picking a replacement for his top assistant.

Reports circulated on Capitol Hill that Dean Acheson, who as under-secretary has shouldered state department burdens at home since Marshall left Washington more than six weeks ago, has insisted anew that he be relieved of his duties soon to return to private law practice.

If Acheson steps out in the next month or two, Robert Lovett, former assistant secretary of war for air and a close associate of Marshall, is regarded as a possible successor.

Marshall's scheduled return tomorrow is expected to signal completion of arrangements for him to report to the people by radio Sunday or Monday on the four-power conference, which ended yesterday in a deadlock on all major German and Austrian peace treaty issues after 45 days of bickering.

President Truman fended off questions about the Moscow meeting at his news conference yesterday, telling reporters to await Marshall's report.

But members of the senate foreign relations committee, with four Balkan peace treaties pending before them, indicated they want more detail than they believe Marshall will feel free to provide in any public address.

Specifically, they want background information on American relations with Russia in the light of the senate-approved proposal to bolster Greece and Turkey against Communism with financial and some military assistance.

That measure is pending in the house and probably will be passed next week.

MEET TO PROTEST
NEW DAM PROJECT

50 Landowners in Area Organize at Meeker.

A protest meeting attended by 50 persons, owners of land in the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy project area, was held at the Meeker school Thursday night.

The meeting was called to discuss the proposed project of flooding 40,000 acres of land in Marion, Hardin and Wyandot counties.

Organization of those concerned in a body to take action in regard to the matter was effected with the following temporary officers elected: Lewis Anderson, president; Mrs. Emerson McKelvy, secretary; and Roy Anderson, treasurer.

It was estimated by Emerson McKelvy, spokesman for the group, that land owned by approximately 3,000 persons in the area will be inundated if the project is carried through. Another meeting of the organization will be held in two weeks at Harpster, it was announced.

Editor Luther M. Schlusser Jr. of Youngstown, O., declared the issue on the ground it would be "biased."

An editorial which was to have been published in the special edition but instead was carried in the mimeographed sheet, declared:

"Campus council has the inherent weakness characterized in Hitler's Reichstag: a body with no authority. . . . The students feel strongly that autocratic control is 'highly undesirable.' These are not the dark ages. This is not the eighth grade," said students who were there (at the demonstration). It is clearly the wish of the students that they have a voice in the rules which govern their lives on the campus.

"Don't Want Control!"

"We do not propose that the students have academic or executive control," it stated.

Report Some Prices Lower

Firms Say Decreases Being Passed Along on Many Items.

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, April 25—The consumer began profiting today from the reduction in prices of some foodstuffs and soaps.

Joseph B. Hall, president of the Kroger Co., which has several thousand stores in many parts of the country, and W. H. Albers, president of Albers Supermarkets, Inc., said they were passing reductions on to retail buyers as fast as manufacturers and processors marked down their prices.

Albers has 48 stores in Ohio and Kentucky.

Both Hall and Albers said price adjustments were being made daily.

Soap price reductions were passed on to consumers here today.

A Kroger advertisement announced reductions of one to three cents a bar or package on eight items. Albers said corresponding reductions would become effective immediately in his stores.

The Kroger advertisement stated that in the last ten days reductions had been made on cheese, butter, coffee, margarine, lard, vegetable shortening, canned juices and crackers. The price of a four-fifth of a quart of wine was lowered from $1.00 to 85 cents it said.

Albers said similar reductions were made in his stores.

Albers said he felt there was a general move by manufacturers to lower prices where possible.

Hall said that food prices were high in proportion to other commodities, adding that a downward movement was necessary to prevent an "unhealthy situation."

The downward trend in prices also reached into one bar, night club and dining room in Cincinnati—those at the Hotel Metropole. The price of hard liquor drinks was reduced five cents.

Columbus Barbers Shave
Prices by 25 Per Cent

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., April 25—The price cutting movement was felt by suburban Grandview barbers today with the result that $1 haircuts were trimmed to 75 cents.

Steve Masselli said six barbers had snipped their prices 25 per cent across-the-board to help "get the ball rolling toward more fair living costs."

Board To Consider
Successor to Michel

Robert T. Mason, president of the Marion Chamber of Commerce said today he called a meeting of the Chamber's board of directors for tomorrow noon in Hotel Harding to consider applications for a new Chamber secretary.

The vacancy resulted when Louis Michel resigned recently to accept a similar position with the Portsmouth Chamber. The board also will consider setting a definite date for Mr. Michel's resignation, Mr. Mason said. He added that although applications would be considered tomorrow it was doubtful that a new Chamber secretary would be employed until a later date.

HAD HOPED FOR AGREEMENT ON AUSTRIAN PACT

Conference Achievements May
Loom Larger as Time Goes On.

By The Associated Press
BERLIN, April 25—Secretary of State George C. Marshall, pausing in Berlin on his way home from the four-power conference in Moscow, reiterated today his disappointment in the results of the Moscow meeting of foreign ministers.

"I had hoped very much we could get an agreement on the Austrian treaty," he said. "I would not attempt to guess when that can now be achieved."

"I am sorry that we did not make more progress," Marshall said in Moscow just before boarding the four-engine plane which is scheduled to set him down in Washington tomorrow night, "but I imagine that as we look back in the days ahead we will see that much more was done than we realized at the time."

Using the same line of thought he employed in a toast last night at a sumptuous farewell banquet given by Prime Minister Stalin in the Kremlin, the American secretary told his audience at the airport that he came from "a young country, and therefore an impatient country."

PRICES OUT OF BALANCE YET

Survey Shows Structure Still Not in Line After Month of Truman Pleas.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 25—The nation's price structure remained out of balance today after a month of wide discussion sparked by President Truman.

Although reductions were spotted here and there, the consumer found many prices unchanged and some increased.

Some analysts said the price of too many "key commodities" were as yet untouched for recent spectacular reductions to be followed by a general retail decline soon.

Many retailers, in spite of post-Easter sales, slashes in hard-to-move goods, and published across-the-board cuts by communities, said they could do little about general price reductions until manufacturers did.

At that level the finger was pointed at basic materials prices and labor cost.

An Associated Press survey showed declines in spot wholesale prices of the following commodities April 24 as compared with a week ago: scrap steel, turpentine, eggs, cocoa, coffee, flour, lard, butter, hogs, corn and oats.

Increases were reported in hides, cattle, lamb, rye and cotton.

Unchanged in price were: cement, rubber, bituminous coal, petroleum, linseed oil, steel, billets, lumber, burlap, sugar, wheat, wool, rayon, cotton cloth, silk, antimony, tin, zinc, lead, and copper.

Analysts noted that, with the exception of scrap steel and turpentine, the great "basic industries" raw materials were unchanged, not only for the week but also since April 1.

Non-ferrous metals remained at the year's high prices.

Experiment in Price Cutting Results In Flood of Inquiries

By The Associated Press
NEWBURYPORT, Mass., April 25—Sponsors of this Atlantic seaport's anti-inflation campaign reported today they were "swamped with queries" from communities across the nation considering adopting the plan which they said lifted dollar volume of sales as high as 110 per cent.

Under the 10-day experiment, now in its fourth day, more than 90 per cent of the retail merchants cut prices 10 per cent.

After more than a score of cities from coast to coast reported they had adopted a similar plan, Norman Randall, executive director of the Newburyport development council, said:

"We're swamped. We've got queries from all over. It's so bad we've got out form wires to give a general outline of the plan. We don't have the staff to handle them individually."

The response to the inquiry was: "Take an inventory and then cut prices 10 per cent all the way along the line."

MISS JENNIE PETERS DIES IN MICHIGAN

Taught in Marion City and County Schools 35 Years.

Word was received yesterday by Mrs. Mildred Murphy of near Morral of the death of her aunt, Miss Jennie D. Peters, 88, who was a teacher in the Marion city and county schools for 35 years and was also a former principal of Silver Street school. She died yesterday at the home of her brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Peters, in Temperance, Mich. with whom she had lived since July, 1945.

She was born in Piqua county June 24, 1858, to Andrew and Almira Woolsey Peters and when one and a half years old, she moved with her family to Wyandot county. Later she came to Marion and then moved to Wapakoneta where she lived for 30 years before going to Michigan.

Miss Peters joined the teaching staff in the Marion city schools in the early 1890's. She taught for several years at the North State Street building and in 1902 was made principal at the Silver Street building, a position she held until leaving Marion 10 years later. Prior to her work in the Marion schools she taught in the county.

She was preceded in death by her parents, four sisters and two brothers. Surviving with the brother in Michigan and the niece, Mrs. Murphy, are a nephew and three other nieces.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Brush Ridge Baptist church.

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"

DANGER IN NEGLECT
No one should ever think of (hemorrhoids) as a mild disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves. Instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free. Write for reference and booklet "What Your Neighbor Says."

BRITISH FOREIGN AID BILL $3,000,000,000

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, April 25 — Lord Inverchapel, British ambassador to the United States, said yesterday his country had contributed more than $3,000,000,000 to relief and rehabilitation in western Europe and the Far East in one form or another.

"Here and there I find an impression that the United States has been alone in looking after the needs of western Europe and the countries of the Far East which were overrun by our enemies," he said in an address at a luncheon of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce.

"This impression is a wrong one," he added. "Britain has contributed, in the form of direct relief, well over one billion dollars. The largest sums under this heading went to UNRRA, civilian supplies to military government, Greece and Malta.

She has also contributed almost two billion dollars in the form of loans and credits. On Germany, France, Denmark, Holland, Burma, etc., have all drawn heavily. These loans together add up to more than three billion dollars.

Dorothy Kirsten Has Added Her Figure To Opera's Profit

NEW YORK, April 25—It is no longer necessary, it seems, that a Metropolitan Opera star, female division, must look like a high musical stature, for it has made Miss K. a public favorite. The size of feminine opera stars in the past has been a constant concern of comic strip artists and writers of humor, and the net result to the Metropolitan Opera Association has been some bad institutional publicity. Currently it has proved to be smart promotional to emphasize the undisputed physical attractions of the Kirstens, Munnels, Pons, whatever shapely shriekers are on tap.

Dorothy Kirsten's is no Cinderella story. She's worked hard for her cultural eminence.

She sticks to Opera.

She is one of the "people's prima donnas" without the aid of freakish musical diodes in other musical media. She hasn't been known once to appear as a guest on a radio program and warble something like "Open the Door, Richard." Her radio dates adhere strictly to opera, or at the very lightest, operetta scores.

Dorothy started out as the least musically inclined of a family of musicians.

"My grandfather was Buffalo Bill's bandmaster and helped found the New York musicians' local," she explained.

"When he was 92 he ran away because he had a mistaken idea the local needed him. It was in the middle of winter and he went to New York. As a result, he caught pneumonia and died. So he lived and died in the service of music and even if the local really didn't need him at the time, I'm proud of his love for music."

In Grandpa's Footsteps

Born in Montclair, N. J., Dorothy wanted to be an actress and, like her granddad, ran away from home to further that ambition. She became a trouble shooter for the New York Telephone company, and in the process one day received a call from a distressed vocal coach who was having trouble with his telephone, over which he hoped to attract the services of a secretary. Dorothy immediately applied for the job and for her pay took singing lessons.

This was the beginning. She was heard by and became a protege of the late Grace Moore. She trained in Italy, made her debut during the World's Fair in 1940, appeared in operetta in major cities all over the U.S. and finally won the heights when she was signed by the Met.

Aside from her looks and voice, she also has an admirable dancing ability.

ON MARION PROGRAM

Miss Kirsten will be heard in Marion within the next year. She been booked as one of the star entertainers in the 1947-48 season of the Marion Community Concert Association.

Seek Traffic Survey In Upper Sandusky

UPPER SANDUSKY, April 25—Acting on instructions of the council, city clerk, James Snyder, has requested the state highway department to make a traffic survey aimed to determine if a reduced speed limit can be set up on Route 30-N from the George Washington bridge to Kirby hill.

Entrances to the municipal Harrison Smith park are located on this strip of highway and police say the traffic during the summer months on the highway and to and from the park constitute a major hazard.

Ready for the Lecture Circuit

HENRY WALLACE is not telling Europeans anything new when he says the hardening of relations between the United States and Soviet Russia has serious implications for them. Nevertheless, tickets for his discourses are in great demand. A week before his speech in the 2,500-seat Paris Sorbonne amphitheater, there were 10,000 requests for tickets.

When he returns from Europe, Mr. Wallace is scheduled to start an American speaking tour. He is not likely to be saying anything not said before, but after his European buildup he'll have an A-1 rating on his lecture agency's list. He has made so many Americans see red and had so many realms of publicity that his tour will be a sellout.

Don't mark Henry down as an other-worldly mystic who knows only about such remote subjects as chicken genetics and wheat pollenization. By virtue of his trip abroad, he got himself an American audience he never would have had by other means. In addition to which his trip qualifies him to speak on a new subject, "Fellow-Traveling in Darkest Europe."

Time for Some Action

PERTURBED at the failure of Attorney General Clark to press contempt proceedings against two Communist witnesses who flouted the authority of a congressional committee, Representative Thomas of the un-American activities committee is asking President Truman for action.

How to build a fire under a remiss department of justice—that's the problem of a congress which feels sick Communists have been making a mockery of its authority. The justice department's record in contempt prosecutions has been a shockingly bad one since 1940 when cases of this type became common.

If the law is poorly written, the attorney general should ask for a better one. Whatever the excuse for the delay, when congressmen begin talking about impeachment proceedings, as they are now, it's time to act or explain.

He Who Laughs First

NBC now knows it has muffed one. The sanctity of its vice presidents isn't worth the commotion caused by the editing it did on scripts for three of its recent commercial programs.

When radio transmits some of the keenest twitting and saltiest sallies of the day, its own brass hats would be well-advised to prove they can take it and keep smiling.

Radio chains have an indisputable right to edit what they put on the air. But, having that right, they are responsible for exercising it in a manner that leaves the public satisfied.

Newspapers have been through this miff; they are going through it every day. Their editors stand or fall on their judgment. If they fail, the readers buy another newspaper. If radio chains miff too many decisions, the listeners will turn to another station. That's part of the freedom of the press—the freedom of readers and listeners to give their business to the opposition.

That's why it can be said that NBC has muffed one. It has raised its listeners' eyebrows and blood pressure over the piddling issue of a radio comic's right to kid an NBC vice president. There is plenty of stuff in radio scripts these days that could be thrown out on perfectly defensible grounds. When the radio industry goes to work on it, there won't be much time left to stew and fret over the sanctity of its vice presidents.

Sour Notes

KIRSTEN FLAGSTAD, generally agreed to be the greatest Wagnerian soprano of her time, is having many an unpleasant experience on her first, and what may be her last, postwar tour. Although most of her concerts are well attended, they are picketed by slogan-chanting marchers. Seattle, with the second largest Scandinavian population in America, refused to allow her to sing, and in Philadelphia a stench bomb interfered with the concert.

Miss Flagstad returned to Norway and her quivering husband after the German occupation, although the Norwegian legion in Washington refused to sanction her trip. Her only wartime concerts were in neutral Sweden and Switzerland. Her husband died last year while awaiting trial as a collaborator. When she returned here, Norway gave her a passport but not its blessing.

Those opposed to the Flagstad concerts have a strong case. It is unfortunate that those most vociferous in disparagement of her are the same who in 1940 paraded with placards reading "The Yanks Are Not Coming." Leave it to the commies to leap to the fore in any campaign not at variance with the party line.

The Mason and Dixon Line was surveyed by two Englishmen—Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon—to settle discussions between Lord Baltimore and the Penn family, respective heads of Maryland and Pennsylvania.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Dewey Backers Count Their Victories Too Early.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Dewey people seem to think the New York governor really launched his candidacy aggressively by capturing the Republican national committee meeting in Kansas City. Their stories tell of how they surprisingly forced the convention away from Chicago, which appeared at the start to have a majority, and took it to Philadelphia.

A canvass of the national committee on this point might deprive them of some cheer. Certain direct sources have assured me the change was not made on a Dewey basis. If a vote had been taken between Gov. Dewey and Senator Taft, the result would have been different. The Taft leadership fluctuates in popularity among Republicans, as it is grappling with national issues from day to day. The Dewey leadership, on the other hand, is still on a personal basis, that is, based on personal rather than party support. It is not on the firing line.

Favored G.O.P. City

Far more influential in the decision was the desire of the committee to take the convention to a Republican city. The Republicans held their last convention where Dewey was nominated, in surroundings provided by the Democratic domination of the Chicago civic auditorium. Democrats only recently won another victory in the Chicago mayoralty. Philadelphia happens to be the larger Republican city in the country. It will provide a friendly and sympathetic atmosphere, at least on Democratic auspices. The choice of the national committee was logical.

Thus the talk and gossip about the decision appears somewhat shallow. I mean the talk and gossip to the effect that "We got the convention away from the Chicago Tribune crowd," or "we got it back to a One World city, where Wallace was nominated," or even "this means Dewey has licked Taft."

The Dewey forces are gleeful over another Kansas City development. Their leaders drew from Chairman Reece (a Taft man they say) a promise he would consider presidential candidacies and geography when he selects the committees on organization and rules and contests for the convention. The papers said this was "a compromise. They neglected to point out certain facts. The convention generally has a contest from Mississippi, and occasionally some from a few other states in the south. But most Republican authorities have long since given the southern delegates to Taft. It was his leadership which forced the Bilbo affair to a head. Certainly no one has given them to Dewey."

Committees Temporary

Furthermore the committees to be appointed by Reece will be temporary. He has no power to select the permanent committee of the convention. If Reece is at all angry about the Dewey aggressiveness, he could easily resolve his consideration of presidential candidacies and geography in a point which will not help Dewey.

Thus on this point again, the Dewey victory is hardly conclusive.

Certain inner signs are noticeable that the Taft people have become somewhat aroused by the conditional aggressiveness of the Dewey people. The Taft people whisper that the Dewey Senator lves held back on union reform legislation and somewhat embarrassed the leadership of Taft. The lves vote, they say, wielded a balance of power in the senate labor committee. The senate Republicans well know he speaks for Dewey. If he had taken a stand with the Taft leadership, he could certainly have influenced a number of votes on the floor.

The Republicans usually hold in December or January, their national committee meeting to select a convention site, but held this one at least nine months early. The reason, they say, was to make hotel reservations early. If their local reason was to bring an inner condition of the Republican party out into the open early, they succeeded.

Clearing the Archives

By JANE EADS

THE National Archives reports that of the more than 10,000,000 cubic feet of records accumulated by government agencies during the war, it is possible that only 10 per cent will have to be kept permanently.

It probably wouldn't have to be even that high except that service records have to be preserved to protect benefits and privileges guaranteed to service men and women.

This does not mean that the other 90 per cent of the records was unnecessary. It is only that their value was more or less temporary.

If all the records of World War II were kept, the archives people say, building to house them permanently would cost at least $75,000,000.

In addition to the service records among the mass of files of very valuable records which picture the experience of the government in.

Mobilizing its industrial and manpower resources.

Organizing its diplomatic and military forces for operations through the world.

Conducting scientific research to augment the military.

Organizing the economy at home so that war needs could be met and scarce materials divided.

Although the war agencies were naturally more concerned with winning the war than recording it, Dr. Solon Buck, archivist of the United States, says "there can be no doubt that in every aspect this war was incomparably better recorded than any previous war."

Dr. Buck says the proposed reduction in volume will be made without serious loss to the future administrator or scholar.

Even before the fighting war began, the archives staff began to work with the emergency agencies to supply them with information on how to control their records and to reduce the quantity of them each year as part of the files lost their value.

"The very inadequacy of the records of the last war, on which administrators in this conflict had often to rely for guidance, made them aware of the future utility of well-kept records," Dr. Buck says.

The National Archives says it will shortly need more space.

Its present building on Pennsylvania completed in 1935, will hold about 1,100,000 cubic feet of records and there are already nearly 800,000 cubic feet of files in it.

These go all the way back to Revolutionary War records and range from George Washington's military orders to documents of World War II including the German and Japanese surrender papers.

Revising Darwin

DARWIN'S "survival of the fittest" theory does not stand up under recent research, says an article on "Animal Sociology" in the 1947 edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Actually, animal life has been governed by a law which might be summarized as "cooperate or die," according to the article, which is by Dr. W. C. Allee, University of Chicago zoology professor. He holds that it is more natural for animals, including men, to cooperate than it is for them to act anti-socially. If this were not true, Dr. Allee's article points out, Darwin's own theories of evolution could not be true.

Dr. Allee continues: "Human tendencies toward goodness on the personal, community, national and international levels are as natural as is man's trend toward being intelligent."

"Group survival values apparently extend to the threshold of primitive life. * * * Social life is not an accident. It is rather a normal and basically a widespread phenomenon."

From animal behavior, Dr. Allee concluded that evolution from simple to more complicated forms of animal life could not have occurred unless the cooperative forces in nature were stronger than the "disoperative," or anti-social forces.

"The balance between the co-operative, group-centered tendencies and those that are disoperative and egoistic is relatively close," he asserted. "Under many conditions, cooperative forces lose. In the long run, however, the group-centered, more altruistic drives are the stronger."

"If cooperation had not been the stronger force, the more complex animals, whether arthropods or vertebrates, could not have evolved from simpler forms, and the more complex social levels could not have risen and persisted."

"Finally, so far as man is concerned, the weight of the evidence from the sociology of other animals strongly indicates that, despite many appearances to the contrary, human altruistic drives are as firmly based on animal ancestry as is man himself."

MAYBE THIS IS OUR TROUBLE

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, April 25, 1937. Thirty-three girls of Harding High and Thomas A. Edison Junior High schools received their Girl Reserve rings in a ceremony conducted at Central Christian church.

Mrs. E. C. Siefert, former advisor of Harding Girl Reserve chapter, presented the rings and the response was by Helen Rieger.

Former members and friends joined the congregation of Fite Memorial Baptist church for the nineteenth annual homecoming celebration. A history of the church, organized 24 years before its mission, was read by Mrs. H. Brobeck, a charter member. The mission was organized by Miss Anna Fite, who served as the first Sunday school superintendent.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bollinger of East Farming street entertained at dinner in honor of the birthday anniversaries of Mr. Bollinger and their son, James Bollinger Jr.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, April 25, 1927. A cold wave over the week-end resulted in a million dollar fire damage in Ohio.

Jesse H. Mason, Dr. J. E. Crawford, Morris Huhn, Clarence Brown, LeRoy D. Zachman, Elmer J. Schoenlaub and Charles H. Isaly were elected as a board of directors at the monthly meeting of the Rotary club at Hotel Harding.

Emery E. Murphy, assistant superintendent of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., gave a talk on "Production" at the monthly meeting of the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

Mrs. Philip Robert Jr. was installed as worthy high priestess at a meeting of Marion Shrine No. 15, White Shrine of Jerusalem.

Members of the Current Topic club closed the season with a program and indoor picnic at the home of Mrs. L. L. Roebuck on South-Vine street.

Engineers from the city hall were working on re-staking the city lot at the intersection of Church and Prospect streets to provide a convenient parking place for delegates expected to attend the convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs the following week.

Flying Priest Seeks Isolated Parish

By The Associated Press
HILO, Hawaii.—The plane took off smoothly and just as smoothly landed again about an hour later. It had seen a dizzy twirl of spins, stalls, pylon circuits, spot landings and other maneuvers while it had been in the air.

Father C. A. Gombold, popular priest from St. Joseph's church in Hilo, who previously had passed written tests had completed tests for a private flying license. Now he is prepared for the day when he can realize one of his earliest ambitions: to get isolated duty in China, Africa or South America.

The priest—who soloed in seven hours—will seek a commercial proficiency rating. He believes that if he is sent to an isolated parish he will be better able to cover his territory more often as a pilot.

It's a Matter of Record

By HARRY A. MCCREA

THE mass-produced wire recorder is now in our midst, or will be as soon as the distribution pipelines get into full operation.

This gadget will transform every home into a recording studio. Its manifold uses are not yet fully canvassed, and whether it will make for a more gracious existence is open to question. Anyway, it is here and its possibilities should be evaluated.

First of all, it will take the place of notes written by one member of the family to another. When Mother won't be home for the evening meal, she can leave a wired oral instructions stating, "The meat loaf is in the refrigerator."

When the maid, after a disastrous day, departs before the lady of the house returns, the butterfingers domestic can leave an account of her misadventures beginning, "Mrs. Abercrombie, I am sorry but I dropped your Spode gravy boat."

Junior no longer can use radio programs as an excuse for staying up late, although if he was able to overrule his parents in this matter before, he'll be able to think up a new excuse now. Also, he will use his recorder to preserve the more blood-curdling parts of radio serials which entrance him. Now he'll be able to play them over and over, absorbing all the finer points of how Jack Strongarm made his escape from the vat of boiling oil in K'd Horseface's hideout. I'll bet the wire recorder inventor didn't think of THAT when he was perfecting his brain child.

The family wire recorder has other possibilities which only time can reveal in all details. For instance, in cases where Dad makes commitments on which he later reneges because of the cost or interference with his home life routines, the original oral agreements, preserved on wire, can be brought forth to confound him. Anything said anywhere in a house could be preserved, to be produced later to refute, prove, complicate or incriminate, just as in Moscow where the very walls have ears.

Too, there is the possibility of recorded conversation being produced as legal evidence. For instance, would a recorded last will and testament, duly attested, be acceptable?

These are but a few of the problems which a wire recorder looses upon an unsuspecting world. It's six, two, and even everybody would have been just as happy without it.

Visitors at Mt. Vernon

THE footsteps of American school children and world travelers again are turning to Mount Vernon, the plantation home of George Washington, and the rose-planted acres which enshrine his tomb.

The number of visitors dropped 75 per cent during the war years, but in 1946 the number climbed again to 637,500.

Children and service people, who during the war constituted one-third of the sightseers, now total only one-tenth of the crowds. Most visitors spend a great deal of time inspecting the general's peaceful study and the upstairs bedroom in which he died in 1799. Generally, however, most popular comment concerns the lovely view from the southeast veranda overlooking the broad Potomac, an eighth of a mile away.

After Washington was laid to rest in a quiet, tree-shaded grave in the vineyard of the estate, the property was left to his nephew, Judge Bushrod Washington, and by him to his nephew, John A.

Washington. The latter's son, John Augustine Washington, became the last private owner.

In 1860 the mansion and the tomb and 202 acres of land were purchased for $200,000 by the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association of the Union. Both the government of the United States and the Commonwealth of Virginia had refused to buy the property.

The Association, founded in 1858 by Miss Ann Pamela Cunningham, of Charleston, S. C., is the oldest patriotic association of women in the United States.

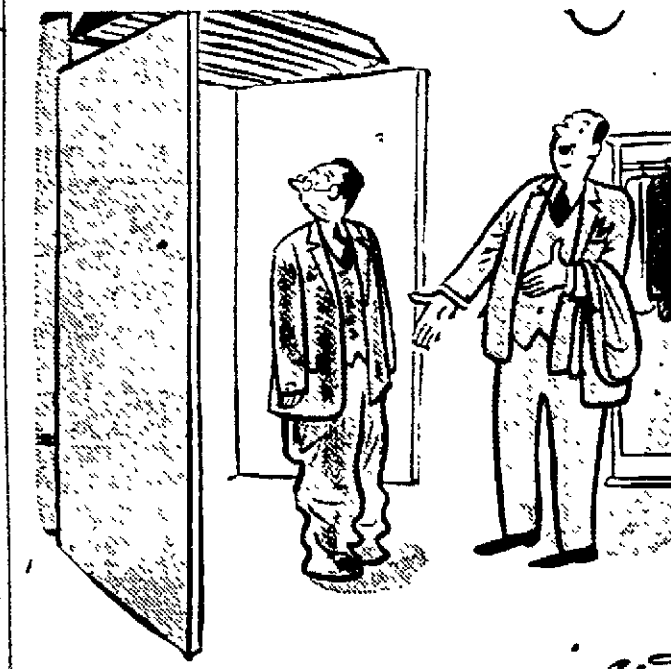

Incorporated under the laws of Virginia, it holds Mount Vernon "in trust for the people of the United States."

Washington loved Mount Vernon. Once he wrote: "I can truly say I had rather be at Mount Vernon with a friend or two about me than to be attended at the seat of government by the officers of state and the representatives of every power of Europe."

The President In the Bowling Alley

When office cares are over And state routine is done, Our Harry seeks the alley And seeks it on the run: What happiness he finds there—To sock, to smack, to fire—To knock things halter-skatter With no reactions dire!

How sweet to find the basement By crucial day or night—To pick up something heavy And hurl it with all his might! To do a little smashin'—To sock with an immense—To slam one down the middle—And fear no consequence!

To take off coat and "weskit" To take a stout, firm grip And, grunting all the while, Just up and let 'er rip! What joy to hear the "whammo"—To bust to hit to nail—And know no repercussions Upon a global scale!

How soothing in the White House To cry out "Let 'er go!" To take an arm and hold it Until the final blow! To fling, to toss, to heave it—To use a swing that's free—Without a voice to question "Is this diplomacy?"

Oh, boy, to up and sock things And hear each crack and "bam" Not fearing any crisis Nor sensing any jam! To see a ball go rolling With gusto and with bounce—With nothing that Ivesia Or Pravda can denounce!

How nice to throw the chest out And "give 'em all he's got!" To slam things with a vengeance With resolution hot—Without a thought of Russia Ant not a thought of tact—And know it won't bring charges Of an aggressive act!

To take most forceful action—To crack down through and through—To show a wallop fearsome—Yet bring no war cloud new! A ball—ten pins—an alley—Ah, what relief in store—When even Henry Wallace Can't cry "This means a war!"

PRINCESS ELIZABETH has reached her twenty-first birthday, which entitles her to a British regiment and a raise in allowance to $60,000 a year. With prices where they are today, the $60,000 won't help much, but the regiment should really be of assistance.

Food in Motion

By TRUMAN TWILL

What we always say is that the world moves, if you give it time. One of our bouts has turned in a picture of a plastic eating tray with a thumbhold, like an artist's palette. This contrivance has partitions in it to keep helpings of various foods separated. The idea is to hold it in one hand with a firm thumb-grip and spoon up its contents with the other.

The thing is designed for those little parties where the guests juggle the food on their knees. No more fumbling with a dish balanced on one knee, a cup and saucer on the other, a knife and fork cached in the pocket, a napkin clutched under the arm and an apprehensive hostess darting feverish glances at the gunk you are spilling on the carpeting which is her pride and joy.

For the first time in the course of human events it is conceded that man is neither a tight-rope walker nor a juggler by nature, but an awkward oaf who cannot do two things at once and is lucky if he can do one. The eating tray would be as functional as a waiter's thumb hooked over the rim of a bowl of soup—except that in this case it would be the eater's thumb, therefore no offense.

It's either going to be something like this or an end to knee-juggling, because the latter is intolerable. We have been keeping track of a trend away from this nonsense. It is noticeable that 99 out of 100 men and 98 out of 100 women now refuse to take the risk. Instead, they make a bee-line for the nearest flat surface, plant the hazard on same and play it safe. This saves dry cleaning, wet laps, keeps egg salad out of the shoes and minimizes spots on the rug.

The lunch palette hasn't arrived a minute too soon. We predict that the operators who thought up this idea will be paying 90 per cent surtax just as soon as the thing becomes well known. From now on we will grab out our holding hand firmly in the slot and get busy with our eating hand, finished ahead of the field and holding out for second and third helpings. If they want to add more compartments, that will be all right with us—say one for beverages, one to wash the hands with after buttering the thumb, and one for olive pits, bones, cigaret ashes, toothpicks salvaged from martinis and cloves out of the baked ham. And when Twitter Twill begins to gesticulate with both hands, the hostess will have more than her rugs and upholstery to worry about. She will be calling the newspaper to see if anyone knows how to get creamed chicken off a ceiling.

Social Affairs

ONE of the outstanding programs of the season was held by members of the Literature Study club Wednesday evening at the Federation Home. The members departed from their customary book review and literature study to hear an informative talk on "Linen" by Mrs. Hazel Strubel, a member of the group. Adding interest to the talk were the many and varied damasks and embroideries from European countries which Mrs. Strubel brought from her collection of linen. During a short business session plans were made for the club's exhibit for the community fine arts day on May 6 and also for a benefit bridge in June. The club chose Puerto Rico as the theme for the exhibit. Guests were Mrs. L. Carlson, Miss Berenice Christian, Mrs. K. H. Hauenstein, Miss Trolia Klopfenstein, Mrs. W. H. Pohler and Mrs. C. J. Watrous.

PLANS were made for a guest day tea at Hotel Harding on May 4, at a meeting of Iota Alpha chapter, Pi Omicron National sorority Tuesday evening at Hotel Harding. Speaker for the afternoon will be Mrs. Leslie Keyser of Columbus, who will review "Pavilion of Women," by Pearl S. Buck. Arrangements are in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. Harry Dixon, Mrs. Eugene English, Miss Margaret Hower, Miss Ruth Zachman and Miss Margaret Lawler. For the program J. W. Keyser of the production department of the Standard Oil company showed films of scenes in Ohio. During the business meeting the first degree of initiation was conferred on Miss Kathryn Hietand, by the chapter president, Mrs. Howard Ryan.

Mrs. Walter Snyder was hostess to members of the Child Research club Thursday evening at the J. W. Snyder home on Blaine avenue. The club voted unanimously to endorse the Daniels-

Cramer bill and each member was urged to write supporting the bill. A contribution of $5 was donated to the cancer fund drive, and Mrs. Harold Van Houten gave a report of the spring conference held recently. Guest speaker for the evening was Miss Elizabeth Berry of Cleveland. She spoke on the topic, "Homes For Better Living" and illustrated her talk with colored slides. Guests were Mrs. Chester Cottrell and Mrs. P. L. Loveland. Lunch was served from a table centered with a bouquet of flowers and lighted with candles. Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Stephen Kubner, and Mrs. Dan Hentze presided. The next meeting will be May 8 with Mrs. Robert McKim of East Farmington street as hostess.

Election of officers for the year was conducted when the Mystery club met Wednesday evening with Mrs. Pauline Barnhouse of 150 Boone avenue. Mrs. Eva Parish served as assistant hostess. Mrs. Both Monk was chosen president; Mrs. Bertha Hansen, vice president; Mrs. Elia Romanotto, secretary and treasurer; and Mrs. Barnhouse, chaplain.

Mrs. Barnhouse conducted devotions. Mrs. Dorothy Beckel presented a gift from the club and contest honors were won by Mrs. Hansen and Mrs. Esther Burgess. Mrs. Laura Gibson was honored with a handkerchief shower in celebration of her birthday anniversary. During the social hour, whoopee was played with prizes going to Mrs. Ida Mossbarger and Mrs. Beckel. Refreshments were served from a table centered with a lighted birthday cake. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Mossbarger on Pearl street.

Miss Roberta Steward, a bride-elect of April 27, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower when Miss Joan Mossbarger and Miss Wilma Lingrel entertained recently at the former's home at 618 Pearl street. The honored guest found her gifts at the end of green and white streamers leading from an umbrella suspended from the ceiling. The evening was spent socially and honors in games were won by Miss Margaret Steward, Miss Maxine Hawk, Miss Helen Hopkins, Mrs. Dean Cusick, Mrs. Gordon Eichhorn, Mrs. Janie Lingrel, Miss Josephine Baldauf and Mrs. Fred Mossbarger. Other guests included Mrs. James O'Brien, Mrs. Glen Hawk, Mrs. Walter Steward, Mrs. Meredith Miles, Mrs. Wilma Mitten and Miss Wanda Mossbarger.

Mrs. Walter Hane spoke on plans for Fine Arts Day to be held May 6 when the Marion Art club met last evening with Mrs. A. E. Mautz of 300 Lafayette street. Mrs. L. D. Hamilton, president, was in charge of the meeting. For the program, Mrs. C. J. Altmaier presented a paper on "Encyclopedia Britannica Collection" and showed reproductions of pictures of various artists included in the group. The paper was prepared by Miss Isabel Freer. The final meeting of the year will be a picnic at the Federation Home in May, the date to be announced later.

Mrs. James Lingo of South Vine street was hostess for a meeting of the Friendship Euchre club Tuesday evening. Mrs. Harry Francis won an award for high score. Mrs. Dot Stoner received the floating award and Mrs. Harvey Vroman was consoled. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. G. W. Drumm.

Soil Conservation Is Urged in Kenton Talk

KENTON, April 25 — Eighty members of the Hardin County Farmers club were assured by Thomas C. Kennard, chief of the state soil conservation department, that "soil is the farmer's bank account." He added that the soil in the area of Hardin county is not washing away as fast as in many other parts of the state but warned that the flat lands is worth much more to the farmer. Calvin Hellman was named chairman of the committee to arrange the next club program on May 27.

To Remove Belfry On Cardington Fire House

CARDINGTON.—At the regular meeting of Cardington Council last week action was taken to remove belfry and bell from the top of the fire engine house. Due to the weakened condition of the walk of the two-story building, the belfry was considered unsafe. For many years the bell summoned volunteer firemen, but in recent years has been used to call councilmen to meetings. A siren is now used to sound fire alarms.

President Yochum, who had a conference yesterday with a student committee, was not available for comment. The mimeographed sheet also bore the signature of William F. Schmidt of Youngstown as a contributor. Schmidt is scheduled to succeed Schlessler as editor of "The Chimes."

Otterbein To Rescue

Meanwhile, with tongue in cheek, the editor of Otterbein college's newspaper offered asylum at Otterbein to Capital students. The alert editor of Otterbein's "The Tan and Cardinal" had happily noted that one of the signs displayed in the demonstration at Capital read: "Cap is unfair. We'll send our kids to Otterbein." Editor Jack Marks thought that was a capital idea. So he dispatched a telegram to Editor Schlessler of "The Chimes." "Decision of your student body to send their children to Otterbein is a wise one and well taken," Marks messaged. "Therefore am

Senate Urged To Override Truman Veto of Resolution

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 25.—Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), said today he would demand that Congress override President Truman's veto of a resolution to let Burton K. Wheeler act as special counsel for the senate war investigating committee.

The President himself, standing by the veto despite his long friendship with Wheeler, suggested that if Congress will simply repeal the measure in somewhat different language he will sign it. Ferguson said he personally prefers doing it the hard way by mustering a two-thirds vote of house and senate to force the bill through as is without Mr. Truman's signature.

He told reporters Mr. Truman signed a bill containing the same language to authorize hiring of special counsel for the senate house Pearl Harbor investigating group in December, 1945, when the Democrats were in the congressional majority.

"I think our lawyer ought to be free to act just as theirs were," declared Ferguson, who is a member of the war investigating committee.

Mr. Truman's decision to stick with his veto came as a surprise at his news conference late yesterday. Earlier his press secretary, Charles G. Ross, told newsmen the veto was a mistake and that "somebody's face is probably red." Ross said some way would be found to rectify the error.

But the President met reporters armed with a memorandum from Attorney General Clark saying the legislation "was properly vetoed."

GM Settles With Union

Wages Hiked 11 1/2 Cents; UAW Head Jubilant Over Agreement.

By The Associated Press
DETROIT, April 25.—The CIO Auto Workers settled with General Motors Corp. last night on a new wage agreement, but UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the union secured "a total economic package" over 15 cents.

The new agreement—being prepared for corporation and union ratification today—was expected to set a pattern for the auto industry drive this year.

Reuther said the union secured a total economic package over 15 cents in addition to the hourly wage increase of 11 1/2 cents, pay for six holidays which the corporation said is equal to an additional 3 1/2 cents an hour, and vacation benefits.

The contract means more financially than the union's earlier settlement for a flat 15 cents, Reuther declared after the long negotiating session.

W. G. Seaton, GM director of labor relations, and Reuther announced that these three points were covered in the pact.

The 11 1/2 cent hourly increase to take effect as of April 24, subject to ratification by the union May 3.

Six paid holidays—New Year's, Memorial day, July 4, Labor day, Thanksgiving and Christmas—for employees with six months seniority on the job.

Improved vacation and "call-in" pay benefits. This includes pay in lieu of a vacation on the basis of 40 hours pay for employees with one year's seniority on July 1 of this year; 40 hours for those with three years and 80 hours for those with five years.

The "call-in pay" amount referring to pay for workers who, for reasons beyond their own control, find no work after being called in was raised from three to four hours wages.

Favorable response of the union's 200-man GM council foretold a quick ratification of the contract.

for three and one-half, Mr. Ellinwood said. He added that an additional 11 cents an hour increase was granted from Dec. 29 to March 23.

Also included is a two cents an hour shift differential increase for workers of the 3 p. m. to 11 p. m. shift and a three cents an hour increase for workers of the 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. shift.

The wage increase after March 23 will amount to approximately 6 per cent, according to the union president.

Members of the new union last week named Mr. Ellinwood temporary president, and Robert Paul Brown, temporary secretary. A meeting is scheduled for next Wednesday night to elect permanent union officers. Frank Converse, Cleveland representative of the Operating Engineers will be present.

The labor issues at the plant developed several weeks ago after employees, then members of Local 552 CIO, voted to file a 30-day strike notice on the grounds that they were not recognized as the bargaining agency. The CIO union was formed, union officials said, after employees voted in an NLRB election to join the Operating Engineers but no representative appeared to sign up the men. Even without membership, however, the NLRB ruled that the operating engineers still held the bargaining rights at the plant.

GUARD CO. AWARDED FEDERAL APPROVAL

Recognition for Company C Granted by War Dept.

Approval for the recognition of Company C, 166th Infantry commanded by Captain Robert F. Melby of 114 North Street, as unit of the National Guard of the United States was received today by Adjutant General Chester W. Goble in Columbus from the War Department at Washington, according to a news dispatch from the state capital. Company C was inspected by Army officers on March 23.

Federal recognition means that the officers and enlisted men of Company C will now be entitled to draw one full day's Army pay in grade from the federal government for each of 48 two-hour armory drill periods during the year.

The Ohio National Guard now has 66 units that have been federally recognized, 14 that have been inspected for which federal recognition is expected within the next few days, 13 for which dates have been set for inspection and 27 which are now in the process of organization.

U. S. CALLS NEW GROUP CIO, MANUFACTURERS

IN MAY WAR FRAUD TRIAL DIFFER ON TAX BILL

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 25.—The government called a new group of bank officials as witnesses today in the war fraud trial of Andrew J. May, wartime chairman of the house military committee, and three co-defendants.

Called to testify were John Alden and Edgar Ewall, officials of the National Bank of Washington, where May kept a bank account, and J. E. Stanley and Russell Hagewood, clerks of the First National Bank of Prestonburg, Ky., May's home town.

Henry and Murray Garson, gun shell manufacturers, and Joseph F. Freeman, their Washington agent, are on trial with May charged with conspiring to buy his influence with the war department.

Glenn Spradlin, former vice president of the Prestonburg bank, testified yesterday that May received a series of checks from two Garson firms in Illinois, the Erie and Batavia Metal Products Companies.

PAY HIKE CALLED BAR TO STEEL CUT

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 25.—An increase of "at least 15 cents" an hour granted 70,000 workers of the Bethlehem Steel Co. has "checked any probability" of the company's reducing steel prices, says Eugene G. Grace, Bethlehem chairman.

The increase was announced yesterday by Grace and Joseph P. Moloney of Buffalo, chairman of the negotiators for the CIO United Steel Workers. Negotiations on other contract items continued today.

Moloney said the wage settlement provided a straight wage increase of 12 1/2 cents but the overall hike would be "at least 15 cents."

Grace, at a news conference, described the wage increase as "an unsound and uneconomical thing" that would increase the cost of the company's steel production $3 a ton. It followed a pattern set in U. S. Steel Corp. negotiations.

"We would manifestly have preferred to decrease steel prices $3 a ton rather than raise wages as a contribution toward stopping inflationary trends," Grace said.

The Bethlehem chairman announced the company's first quarter net income was $16,090,426, largest for any initial quarter in its history.

Mother Asks To Serve Deporter's Sentence

By The Associated Press
QUINCY, Mass., April 25.—Mrs. Connie di Bartolo wired President Truman today to ask that she might serve "the long life sentence" imposed on her 23-year-old son, Michael, by an American court martial in Livorno, Italy yesterday for desertion.

She told the President that she will still call "an American hero" the son who was missing until last November when he walked into UNRRA headquarters in Rome and asked about the reports of the battle of Cassino.

Di Bartolo said he was suffering from amnesia but after examination by army doctors he was ordered to stand a court martial.

STOCK LEADERS UP, BUT MAJORITY DOWN

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 25.—A few stock market leaders continued to operate in the plus column today but numerous issues sought lower levels.

There was a fairly active sell-off following a quiet opening.

The General Motors and Bethlehem wage boost agreements were viewed as constructive, insofar as precluding strikes, although failing to touch off any real buying.

Bethlehem managed to get up a major fraction. Pacific Western Oil and Mission Corp. touched new 1947 highs in response to merger expectations. Ahead at intervals were Texas Co., American Radiator American Car and Foundry preferred and Western Union A.

Leaders included U. S. Steel, Crucible Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, American Telephone, Goodrich, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Illinois Central, Eastman Kodak, Dow Chemical, Du Pont, International Paper, Schenley and United Aircraft.

Russia Relatively Weak Nation, Speaker Says

By The Associated Press
HIRAM, O., April 25.—Dr. Brooks Emeny, president of the Cleveland Council of World Affairs, asserted today that Russia was a relatively weak nation and probably would remain so for another generation.

Addressing the Ohio Valley Regional International Relations club, he said a Soviet revolution was "by no means an impossibility."

Bill To Help Spread Libraries Introduced by Two Senators

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writers

WASHINGTON, April 25—There's a bill in congress to help spread libraries so more people can get a chance to read and study.

This bill, sponsored by the American Library association, was offered in the senate by Senators Aiken (R-Vt.) and Hill (D-Ala.). What will happen to this bill, if anything, is anyone's guess. Briefly, this is its purpose:

1. Help the states, with government money, to set up temporary libraries where there is no library service now.

2. Then, if the people in the area want a permanent library, the states or counties can set up a permanent one at their own expense.

In short, the bill would provide federal money to get people, now without libraries, interested in the benefits of libraries.

The background of all this is given as follows by the library association:

Only about 675 of the 3,100 counties in this country have county-wide library service.

So, as a result, 35,000,000 people have no public libraries within reach.

Of those 35,000,000, about 32,000,000 people live in small villages or the open country. Here's an example of what's meant:

James Marlow, Arkansas, with an average income of $248 per person, spends only an average of 5 cents per person for library service.

Because of this, the Arkansas library service reaches only 44 per cent of its population. Most of those with library service live in the cities.

How could this be improved? The library association suggests: The bookless county people—or all the people in a state—could tax themselves a little more to set up libraries.

Tax themselves how much? The library association figures:

$1 Per Person

About $25,000 a year is needed for a library to serve an area with a population of 25,000.

So if 25,000 people in a county taxed themselves $1 a year they could set up a decent library.

If this kind of tax were spread among all the people of a state, the cost to each person would be much less.

This is what the bill suggests, if it becomes law:

States wanting government money to start up interest in libraries would draw up plans. They'd get no money unless the government approved the plans.

How much money could they get from the government? Up to $25,000 a year for five years without putting up any of their own. They could get an additional $50,000—a total of $75,000 a year from the government for five years—if they matched that additional $50,000 with $50,000 of their own.

Several Methods Named

The government money under the bill, could be used in several ways:

1. The states could open model libraries in several ways:

1. The states could open model libraries in rural areas, in rented buildings, to get the people interested and show them the benefits of a library.

The people could go to these libraries to borrow books.

2. Or—the states could set up such model libraries but send bookmobiles to farm people's doorsteps to let them borrow books at random or deliver them books they specially desired.

A bookmobile, operating from one central model library, could service two or three counties.

The states, as noted, could carry on these operations for a year with the help of government money.

When federal money was used the library service would have to be free it would have to be handled by trained librarians, and none of the money could be spent to buy buildings.

Streams Yield Fewer Bass, Quaries More

According to O. H. Neimeyer, county game protector, fishermen haven't pulled many bass out of Marion county streams this spring.

However, don't jump down the throat of the sportsman who boasts having made a good catch, for Mr. Neimeyer says bass fishing in quarries has been much better.

The season on bass closes May 1 and will open again June 1. This does not apply to the quarry, though, as they are not under state jurisdiction, according to Mr. Neimeyer.

He could not say whether any restocking of the streams is planned for this spring.

UNRRA is staffed by an international civil service comprising about 10,000 persons recruited from 43 nations.

OHIO ESCAPEE MUST SERVE OUT TERM

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 25—The Ohio pardon and parole commission yesterday ordered George Mason, alias Melvin Shane, to serve two more years in prison despite his record as a Detroit businessman and union leader during the 12 years after his escape from the London prison farm.

Mason, who fought extradition after his arrest in Detroit last fall, returned unguarded to Ohio penitentiary March 18.

He must serve at least until March, 1949, when the commission will consider his case again.

The commission, explaining its action, said in a formal statement that "the members expressed the belief that Shane's offense in slugging the guard and escaping in a state-owned automobile was of a very serious nature and that the assessment of two years for such an escape is thoroughly justified."

"The two years for escape was assessed by William F. Amrine, superintendent of the London prison farm, and the penalty was approved by Gen. Frank D. Henderson, warden of the Ohio penitentiary," the statement added.

"This is the usual and customary penalty for escape for all state institutions and it is well known to all men placed on honor assignments."

"At the time Shane escaped he still had one year and nine months to serve before his case would have been heard by the pardon and parole commission and the question of whether or not he is to serve this additional time will be decided by the commission at the time of his next hearing in March, 1949."

Junior Was All-American Heel in Uniform

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK—The scene is a small Belgian hotel bar on an October night in 1944 just two months and five days before the opening of the "Battle of the Bulge."

The central figure is "Junior," the All-American heel in uniform. "Junior" was one of the "bobo boys" you find in any army—think everyone around them is a sucker for believing in what he is fighting for.

Hal Boyle

"Who wants to be a hero?" he said. "You won't eat me having to pawn my medals after the war to buy a hamburger. They can keep all their pretty little ribbons, too. All I want is to get my foot on that gangplank going home."

"I'll make a million dollars in the first three months. Most of these clucks will be on the cuff for years when they get back. Not me! I got my line all I figured out. But I ain't saying now what it is."

"Pretty Boy Look"

"Junior" was tall, blond and wore a neat uniform that the combat men in the room his face had a pretty boy look like a movie gunman and there wasn't any crust under his fingernails. There never would be.

SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE SESSION ADVOCATED

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., April 25—Because of "dirty work at the crossroads," a special legislative session to deal solely with conservation of Ohio's vast natural resources is being advocated says Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert.

Herbert, who is president of the senate, asserted in a radio address that efforts to ward conservation agencies into a single department had been "unwarranted by under-cover activities of powerful special interests in league with selfish political interests" which he did not identify.

"There has been dirty work at the crossroads," he added. Recalling that both major political parties "have repeatedly pledged a consolidation of all of Ohio's agencies and efforts into a single department to cope with this great problem," Herbert added:

"Apparently neither political party has the courage, the vision, or the initiative to make these pledges good."

"Forward looking members of the assembly who have a grasp of the potentials of the great natural wealth that is ours are suggesting that its importance warrants a special session of the legislature to deal solely and only with conservation."

Herbert cited widespread erosion of topsoil, depletion of timber and water supplies and the "destructive effort" of coal strip mining as evidences of the need for conservation practices.

He also suggested the possibility of developing new industries by tapping sources of the great natural wealth that is ours are suggesting that its importance warrants a special session of the legislature to deal solely and only with conservation."

"Coal already is the mother of over 2,000 by-products, and Ohio has billions of tons of coal," Herbert said.

Trautman Holds Up Cy Young As Living Example to Marion Players

Tells Cubs at Annual Banquet Merit Is Key To Baseball Glory

By ARTHUR B. MYERS

Marion ballplayers, standing at the bottom of the ladder, last night got a look at the top.

George M. Trautman, minor league boss and principal speaker at the second annual banquet sponsored by the Inter-Club council, held up Cy Young—perhaps the game's greatest pitcher—as a living example.

Young previously had told the 23 players and 200 guests at Hotel Harding the secret of his success, which includes a record of 511 major league games won, was keeping in trim. And thought. He recalled he had written letters a month ahead of time in an effort to determine the weaknesses of batters he expected to pitch to.

"Give Best in You"

Be prepared, Young said, to give the best you have in you when it is called for.

To illustrate the depth from which even the greatest in the game have climbed, Trautman gave the beginning salary of Young whose first contract paid him $50 per month. Babe Ruth started for $100, Honus Wagner, Mr. Shortstop of all time, started at $35 and Greenberg was one of the most awkward players in the game, Trautman added.

Merit, he said, distinguished the

Williams Shift Nothing New, Cy Young Shows

The Williams shift is nothing new, Cy Young, baseball pitching great, told guests of the second annual baseball banquet last night.

He explained that back in the days when he was setting records which may stand forever, fouling the ball was a fine art. A foul didn't count as a strike then, and Billy Hamilton was past master at the art. He recalled Hamilton once fouled 49 consecutive pitches in one time at bat, trying to wear the pitcher down into giving him a base on balls.

When Hamilton came to bat, Young said, the third baseman moved into the bleachers, the shortstop covered third base and the second baseman moved into shortstop's territory in an effort to stop Hamilton.

The strategy often failed, Young remembered.

immortals from the ordinary players. Pointing out that there are thousands of ordinary ballplayers, Trautman revealed there are 388 minor league teams in 52 leagues playing in 44 states.

Must Deliver To Stay

Those who can do what they want to with a ball or bat, when they want to do it, will reach the top, he explained. The others must fall by the wayside.

Trautman reminded the team that in the sports world they carry Marion's banner. He exhorted them to carry it proudly and well.

Manager Nelson Burbrink introduced the team. Presented to Marion as the 1947 standard bear-

INDIANS DO WELL ON WESTERN WARPATH

Win Fourth Straight; Black Shuts Chisox Out.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 25—The Indians are doing well on the western warpath.

The Tribe's fourth consecutive win against clubs in the western sector of the league was Don Black's pitching victory, 1 to 0, over the White Sox yesterday, the only run being hit Pat Seery's contribution.

Today's problem was the matter of pitching.

Now that Bob Feller, Red Evers and Black have demonstrated their claims on the first three starting spots, the field appears wide open for the No. 4 spot. Al Gettel was scheduled for a test today, and the White Sox' probable contender was Lefty Lee.

Black, the former bad boy, was impressive against the Sox, retiring 10 men in a row, allowing the first hit in the fourth and finishing with only four hits charged against him. It was his second win of the season, against no losses.

Seery's bat furnished the game's only run in the second inning, when Pat lofted one into the lower left field bleacher seats. Johnny Rigney allowed only four other safeties, none after the sixth.

Mize Hits 3 Homers, But Giants Lose Game, 14 to 5

By The Associated Press

Life is tough with the New York Giants when Big "Jawn" Mize hits three home runs off a 20-game winner and the club hits rock bottom in the National league cellar.

Manager Mel Ott has only one consolation in his miseries. He has distinguished company in the champion St. Louis Cardinals who also have won only two of their first seven starts in the bright new season.

Despite his slugging feat, Mize never was able to get the Giants in the ball game yesterday at Boston. Johnny Sain was coasting along with a big early lead before Mize started to do his stuff, hitting round trippers on each of his last three trips to the plate. Another homer by Walker Cooper also failed to discourage Sain who got home with a 14-5 verdict.

The Braves used only one homer, by Danny Litwhiler, in their 21-hit salute to five New York pitchers, starting with loser Monty Kennedy.

The home run also had its place in the Pittsburgh-Chicago game but it was Don Johnson's single in the eighth that gave the Cubs a 6-5 edge over the Pirates, reducing their lead over Brooklyn to a half game.

The Brooklyn Dodgers continued to prove their mastery over the Phillies. Dixie Walker's first-inning single with the bases loaded accounted for both runs of Ralph Branca's 2-0 shutout over Tommy Hughes.

Joe Cronin's Boston Red Sox salvaged the last of their three game set at the Yankee stadium, shading New York, 1-0, on Tex Hughson's two-hitter.

The St. Louis Browns, shut out in three of their first five starts, nudged Virgil Trucks, Hal White

Writers Get Last Word, Chandler Learns

By FRITZ HOWELL

Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O., April 25—We were thumbing idly through some of Ohio's sports pages today, trying to give the boss the impression we were working, and found that some of the scribes still are asked a bit more than somewhat at Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

In fact, practically all the Buckeye sports writers have been taking lousy slings at the commissioner for his remarks of last week on the prime requisites of a baseball reporter.

Mr. Chandler, you recall, declared right out in public that "You don't have to know anything to write. You just need a pencil, paper and time."

Denton Sums Up

Nixon Denton, sports editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star, summed up the sports desk reaction by combining a serious note with his usual tongue-in-cheek style along this line:

WILLIAMS CONFIDENT HE'LL STOP RUSSELL

NBA Champ Brags; Columbus Set for Biggest Fight.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 25—The Williams, NBA lightweight champion from Trenton, N. J., has a 10-round muting on tap tonight at the state fairgrounds coliseum with left-handed Willie Russell of Columbus, and isn't too concerned about it.

"I'll get one over as fast as possible," Williams boasted, "and I might do it in the first round."

Williams, whose crown will not be in jeopardy in tonight's scrap, is an 8 to 5 betting favorite, out-Russell, a 27-year-old southpaw slugger, isn't impressed.

"I'll let my gloves do the talking, and I think I can take him," the Columbus fighter commented.

The biggest crowd in the Ohio capital city's fight history is expected. A benefit affair for the Columbus zoo, the bout will draw about 6,000 with a $30,000 gate, its sponsors declare. Williams is "in" for 35 per cent of the net.

Louis Postpones Fight Waiting for Opposition

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 25—With no logical contender in sight, there's going to be an elimination contest to pick a challenger for Joe Louis' heavyweight crown.

Insisting he didn't want anybody "to have a right to holder," the champion has called off his title defense scheduled for Yankee stadium June 26 and offered to fight in September providing a suitable opponent is turned up by that time.

Weather Hampers Efforts Of Cubs To Get In Shape for Lima

With their Ohio-State league only Wiebel and Diedrick have debut at Lima but two days away played with Marion before. Wiebel, the Marion Cubs are going through with Marion last season until what work-out the weather will, May 15 and Diedrick came to permit in order to get off to a flying start this year.

The Marion outfit has been a slow starter in past seasons, but it is an entirely new outfit this year and their new youthful manager, Nelson Burbrink is going to have his charges hopping from the start.

CALEDONIA ENTERS 10 IN WESLEYAN RELAYS

Coach Thurman Wright of Caledonia said today 10 boys will be entered in the Ohio Wesleyan relays at Delaware tomorrow.

He believes, and not without reason, that Caledonia will be able to place in at least one of the events—the shot put.

Gene Fleming, a husky sophomore, will participate in this event. Fleming has posted distances of over 40 feet in all track meets in which the Domians have participated this spring. In the Caledonia a-Harding meet, Wednesday, he turned in a toss of 44 feet 8 inches. This is less than five feet short of the top mark 49 feet 11 inches posted in the Mansfield relays last Saturday.

Other performers from the school slated for the trip are Herb Rogers, 440 and mile relay; Howard Mitchell, half mile; Jerry Jaggers, the mile; Gene Freet, high jump; Paul Drake, discus; Kenny Comstock, shot put; John Robertson, 440 and mile relay; Jack Furness, 440 and mile relay; and Jim Ray, 220 and half mile relays.

Delaware, with an average altitude of 60 feet above sea level, has the lowest altitude of the 48 states.

Has Choice of Lineup

Burbrink now has a choice between two first basemen. Bob Diedrick and Jim Forbes, two shortstops, Gene Tutera and Vita Tutera, rightfielders Mel Wiebel and Alex Kolbicka, and catchers Melvin Nelson, Chester Luckie and Bruce Adams.

Players who are virtually assured of being around on opening day are Aaron Gray, second base; Bob Meyers third base; outfielders Bill Bevans and John Scavo, and pitchers John Edington, Winston Brendell, Johnny Tate, Frank Smith, James Rugala, Bill Rosin, Ray Alman, Gerald Peters and Ed Witowski.

Middleweight Bout on WMRN Tonight

Manhattan's fist feature tonight is a middleweight clash that brings together Steve Belloise (above) of the Bronx and Johnny Walker, Philadelphia, in a ten-round.

A successful exponent of the blitz attack, Belloise has blasted 16 foes to the canvas since returning to ring action shortly over a year ago. He has won 23 in all. The Bronxite had a crack at the 160-lb. title before his Navy enlistment, but was turned back through inexperience. Today Steve is a seasoned sucker and expects to gain another chance at the crown.

Walker is a dangerous assignment and has conquered many a title aspirant. The Philadelphia is crafty and cagey. He has beaten such capable batters as Ossie Harris, Jerry Fiorello, Red Doty, and others.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WMRN (1490 on your dial) at 10 p. m.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"Come on, boys," Mr. Olsen, the Lansfield manager, said, as finished speaking, and the two workmen followed to the door of the bedroom in which Mary lay in her drug-induced sleep.

At the door, I halted.

"This bedroom is the first I wish done," I said, "and I must ask you to make as little noise as possible. Mr. Veritzen's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Noel Veritzen, has come home unexpectedly, and she is quite ill."

"The physician has given her a sedative, and guarantees that she will sleep for several hours, and that ordinary noises will not disturb her. So I think you will be able to do this work without any trouble. Now, if you will wait just a minute, I will tell the nurse that you are here."

I went through the door, and found Katharine bending over Mary.

"Has anything gone wrong?" I asked in sudden alarm.

"No indeed; just checking up," she assured me.

"The men are here to put the bars on the windows," I said. "Is it all right for them to come in?"

"Perfectly all right," she told me. "I'll put an extra blanket over Mary if they open the windows, and I'll watch her every minute while they are here so no stray draught will blow on her."

Will De Bathroom

"When they're finished, I'll have them do the bathroom adjoining this room," she went on. "Then they'll be finished with anything near her, and I'll send them back to you, okay?"

"Okay!" I said, smiling at her. "I'll bring them right in."

have said everything I have to say on the subject of this problem. I am waiting now for two things: Phil's report on what Olga has to tell me, and Faith's arrival. Go to Mary by all means."

Katharine looked at me shrewdly when I entered the bedroom again. The men, I saw, were busily working at the windows, making remarkably little noise.

"Come into the bathroom," I said. "You can see Mary through the open door, and the men cannot hear us."

She led the way to the bathroom without comment.

Then she grinned at me.

"You must have something most important on your mind," she said.
